MISSES AND CHILDREN'S JACKETS.

The youngsters have just as much right to be stylish as their grown-up sisters or their mothers. We've thought out their needs and their little whims, too. And so care, daintiness, neatness, style goes into their jackets, their reefers and dresses—they have a smart, jaunty, well-clothed look to them, and it doesn't cost a penny extra for this thoroughness.

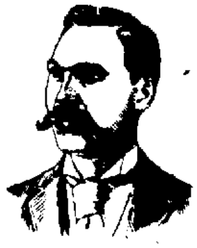
A GREAT VICTORY.

Thomas Taggart Re-Elected Mayor of Indianapolis.

The Democrats Sweep the City and Their Leader Triumphs by Nearly Five Thousand Majority.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—Mayor Thomas Taggart, at the head of the democratic municipal ticket, swept this city yesterday with the greatest plurality that has ever attended a local contest. His majority is nearly 5,000, and the democratic candidates for police judge, city clerk and six councilmen-at-large, together with twelve out of fifteen ward councilmen, were elected by big majorities.

The result is almost universally regarded as settling that Mayor Taggart will be the next democratic candidate for governor of Indiana. His friends have been informed all along that his candidacy depended upon the result of this election. Two years ago Taggart was elected mayor by 3,773 plurality and it is probable that the official returns from all the precincts will show that he has received as large a plurality this time. Last November McKinley received, within the limits of the old city (the suburbs had not been annexed at that time), a plurality of 4,882.



THOMAS TAGGART.

The democrats are jubilant, and are declaring that the result will put the democratic party of the state in good trim for the contest next year. Ex-President Harrison's precinct shows a large democratic gain; in fact, the democrats made heavy gains in republican strongholds.

There were five full tickets in the field, and an independent candidate for mayor. The candidates that headed the tickets were: Thomas Taggart, democrat; William B. Harding, republican; John F. White, citizens'; Samuel J. Wilson, prohibition; Philip H. Moore, socialist-labor; Charles F. Smith, independent.

SOLAR PLEXIS BLOW

Causes the Death of John Carson at Lansing, Mich.

Fatal Termination of a Session of Friendly Sport at the State Industrial School for Boys.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 13.—Fitzsimmons' famous solar plexis blow has been the cause of a death at the state industrial school for boys. While playing, John Carson, sixteen years old, drew a long breath and asked one of his dormitory mates to strike him in the chest. He was accommodated but wanted more and requested Frank Martin, an inmate from Albion, to strike him. Martin responded with a back hand blow over the heart and Carson dropped dead. The institution physician says the blow produced paralysis. Martin, who is but fourteen years old, is held blameless, in as much as the blow was struck in sport.

EIGHT HOUR LAW

Becomes Practically a Dead Letter in Kansas.

Judge Wells Holds That Workmen Cannot Recover for Overtime, but are Themselves Liable for Breaking the Law.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 13.—Judge Wells, of the Kansas court of appeals, has rendered a decision which several lawyers declare practically renders the eight hour law in Kansas a dead letter. A contractor named Billingsley in doing a job for Marshall county, worked his men ten hours a day and then made a claim for two hours extra which the commissioners refused to pay. Judge Wells holds that in working his men over eight hours Billingsley not only subjected himself but the commissioners to a criminal prosecution.

GOLDIE'S GOOD TIME.

Eloping Mrs. Carter Says She is Enjoying Herself Hugely.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 13.—Mrs. Goldie Carter, wife of Constable Charles Carter, who eloped two weeks ago with H. D. Crane, an alleged lumber dealer, has been heard from. In a letter to a relative here she says for no one to worry about her; that she is having a good time. The husband of Mrs. Carter traced the couple to Muncie, Ill., where they escaped ten hours in advance of him. Mrs. Carter is only eighteen years old, and had been married but nine months. Crane, her paramour, was arrested Monday.

Dr. A. E. Van Buskirk was summoned to attend Mrs. Albro, near the McKinnie farm, today. The lady had suffered the rupture of a blood vein and had not the medical attendance been quickly obtainable she would have bled to death.

A SAD STORY.

Why Pretty Nellie Norman Took Her Life.

A Former Fresno Belle, who Eloped, Became an Artist's Model and Then Fell to Utter Ruin.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 13.—Nellie Norman, the pretty twenty-three-year-old girl who committed suicide here yesterday by taking a dose of carbolic acid, was Nellie Anderson, a former belle of Fresno, Cal., whose father is one of the wealthiest men living there. Her story is a most romantic and in some respects an unusual one. Several years ago she ran away with and married, against the wishes of her parents, Matt Mikesevich, one of her father's gardeners. They went to Stockton where her father found them. He took the blow as philosophically as possible and set his son-in-law up in business. Two weeks later he heard that his daughter had left her husband and gone east.

It became known afterwards from a letter sent by Nellie to her mother that she had gone to Chicago where she got employment in a cloak house. This she left sometime afterward because of an insult offered by her employer. Miss Nellie then became an artist's model and as such she was in great demand because of her beauty. She posed for one artist, the acceptance of whose medallion over that of other artists, undoubtedly superior, caused a lot of trouble in the world's fair board. It was while posing for artists that the girl maintained she was ruined. Then she changed her name to Nellie Norman. Boyle, the sculptor, whose works of art on the transportation building of the world's fair are well remembered, had been searching in vain for a suitable model for one of the figures in his group—"Navigation." He finally selected Nellie "Norman," who became famous as a model.

New Bohemian life, however, was too much for her, and in six months the furor over which artists had raved was gone and her beauty faded. Becoming sick and discouraged, she finally decided to end the struggle by death.

FATAL PRIZE FIGHT.

Jack Cummings Killed in the Ring at New Orleans.

Walter Griffin, Who Beat Him, was for a Time and is Under Arrest for Murder.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 13.—The new Tulane Athletic club was opened last night with a big benefit for the indigent yellow fever patients and families in the city. An attractive program, including boxing bouts, was arranged and among these was a contest between Jack Cummings and Walter Griffin.

Both are local men and both had been training to fight for some time. There was much interest in the contest and a large crowd was on hand. Professor Duffy was the referee.

The fight was of the whirlwind order from start to finish and both men gave and received much punishment. In the fifteenth round Griffin hit Cummings a hard punch and the latter sank to the floor, not from the effects of the blow, but from lack of vitality. Physicians were summoned and made an examination of the man.

Dr. Bloom, of the Charity hospital, said that he was suffering with hemorrhage of the brain and possibly concussion. An ambulance was called and the fellow was taken to the Hotel Dieu, where at 4:15 a. m. he died. Griffin had also been badly punished and was taken to his home. Policemen were sent to watch by Griffin's bedside.

When Cummings' death was announced Griffin was placed under arrest but was not able to be moved. The fatal termination of the fight may have an affect on the scheme to revive boxing contests and may prevent the McPartland-Everhardt fight on Monday night next.

During the forenoon today Griffin had recovered sufficiently to warrant his removal to court.

POLICY OF DELAY.

That is to Sagasta's Program With Regard to Cuba.

LONDON, Oct. 13.—Premier Sagasta has again shown that his policy with America regarding Cuba is to be one of delay. News comes that the note in answer to the document presented to the duke of Tetuan by General Woodford has been outlined.

There is nothing harsh or irritating in the paper prepared by Minister Gullon. In only one case does he make a statement that will leave a bad taste in the mouth of the American government. That is where he refers to the quasi support given the filibusters, who are the mainstay of the Cuban revolutionists.

Rather ingenuously the foreign minister says that Spain can hardly be expected to fix a date for the ending of the war; and there is breezy confidence in his statement that autonomy and other reforms, with active work by troops, will speedily reduce the rebels to submission, but underneath it all is the indication that Spain will not be hurried in its plans.

WORSE THAN USUAL

In the Epidemic of Yellow Fever Today.

The Crescent City Starts the Day With Five Deaths and a Number of New Cases.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13.—Yellow fever got a good start this morning. As early as 10 o'clock there were five deaths recorded in the office of the board of health, one of them being left over from last night. Several new cases had also been reported. Among the deaths was Edward C. Ray, of 2912 Prytania street. Allen T. Giles, who died yesterday, was from Boston and had been here but one year.

Marine hospital representatives went out this morning to the camp above the city, from which laborers will be shipped into the country parishes. There is under consideration a proposition to allow commercial men, who are tied up in the city, to go to this camp.

The board of health has not, up to the present time, been able to confirm the report of a death from yellow fever in Plaquemines, and nothing will be done in the matter of inquiry unless other cases and fatalities are reported. Plaquemines is the parish in which the Sicilian immigrants were landed one day last week.

The board of health is still waiting to hear from Galveston that there is yellow fever in that city.

Fifty four people have thus far been treated in the Isolation hospital and thirty-one patients are in the institution at present.

IN LIBERTY'S LAND.

Miss Cisneros Arrives in New York City.

The Girl Who Just Escaped From a Spanish Prison in Cuba Greeted in Gotham.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Evangelina Cossio Y Cisneros, who recently escaped from a Spanish prison in Cuba, was a passenger on the Ward line steamer Seneca, which arrived today from Havana. At quarantine Miss Cisneros asked to be excused saying anything about her imprisonment and escape, as she has not yet recovered from a sickness from which she had suffered during the entire passage and which kept her in her state room during the whole voyage. On the passenger list she was registered as Miss Juana Sola. She was traveling under the care of a gentleman who accompanied her from Havana. When the Seneca reached quarantine the tow boat J. Fred Lohman, with several newspaper representatives and four women, went alongside the steamer and after the health officers' inspection was over they went on board and accompanied Miss Cisneros to this city.

RAID OF DEPUTIES.

Marching Strikers Arrested at DeArmit Mines.

Were Parading With a Brass Band When the Deputies Swooped Down—There Was No Disorder.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—The deputy sheriffs at the DeArmit coal mines made a raid on the strikers at Sandy Creek this morning and arrested fifteen men, including the members of the brass band.

The strikers were marching on the public road and were halted by the deputies about a quarter of a mile from the tipple. The band refused to stop playing and the entire party was placed under arrest without resistance.

The prisoners were brought to this city and taken to the sheriff's office, where a hearing will be given them this afternoon. The members of the band took their arrest good naturedly and played their instruments as they were escorted from the railroad station to the sheriff's office. Chief Deputy Vanch said the men were riotous and he feared trouble. This is denied by the strikers. Superintendent DeArmit claims that the three mines of the company are now running to their fullest capacity.

BIG SUGAR FACTORIES.

Much Money to be Invested in Refineries in Colorado.

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 13.—Plans contemplating the investment of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 by eastern capitalists in sugar factories and refineries have been consummated here and an agreement has been signed by 100 farmers pledging themselves to the cultivation of 1,000 acres of sugar beets for the purpose of supplying the material to these factories and refineries with which to carry on the industry. It is expected that a sugar refining business amounting to a million and a half will be established in the state.

McKinley to Visit Cincinnati.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The president has decided to attend the dinner of the Commercial club in Cincinnati on October 30. It is to be a non partisan affair, and Mr. McKinley does not expect to make a speech.

Last evening at 8 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Thompson, No. 246 East Lewis street, occurred the marriage of Miss Henrietta Winbaugh to Dr. Harry Pierce, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Samuel Wagenhals in the presence of the immediate relatives. Both young people are well and favorably known in the city, Miss Winbaugh being for several years a teacher in the public schools and Mr. Pierce being the well known dentist. Dr. and Mrs. Pierce will be at home at No. 56 Division street, having dispensed with a wedding tour.

PHALEN MIXED.

The Attorney for Luetgert Becomes Confused.

He Soon Recovers and Then Makes Charges of Perjury for the Purpose of Convicting an Innocent Man.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—The usual mad rush for Judge Tuthill's court room followed immediately after the doors of the criminal court building were opened today and for nearly two hours people stood in line waiting to be admitted to the room. Hundreds were turned away when the court room became filled.

Attorney Phalen opened the argument to the jury on behalf of the defense. He will be followed by ex-Judge Vincent, who will close the case for Luetgert in a speech lasting nearly two days. "If this case had been submitted to the jury when the state closed its evidence I verily believe a verdict of not guilty would have resulted at once," declared Attorney Phalen. "The evidence in the prosecution came from intimidated witnesses who perjured themselves," he asserted, with emphasis.

"These witnesses were browbeaten by the police and drilled in what they were to swear to. They came into the court to swear away the life of an innocent man. During the progress of this trial we had a good illustration of the perjury in this case when Emma Schimpke, after giving her evidence, left the stand and admitted to her friends that she had deliberately lied. Police persecution and intimidation pervadates throughout the entire case. The case fairly drips with the vile rottenness of police methods. The chain of circumstances about which Mr. McEwen has said so much is composed of distorted and fragmentary bits of perjured evidence so wholly contradictory and unreliable that no jury composed of sensible men can for a moment give it credence. Gentlemen, you are the judges of the law and the evidence. It remains for you to say whether my client is to unjustly suffer at the hands of perjurers."

At this point in his argument Attorney Phalen had become worked up to a high pitch of excitement and became a trifle confused. He talked about "false perjury," and said, "those or these statements you heard." States Attorney Deneen chewed a lead pencil in an effort to suppress laughter and Assistant States Attorney McEwen pulled his blonde mustache until his face grew red because of the self inflicted pain. Ex-Judge Vincent stared at his colleague in an annoyed manner and Attorney Phalen gradually recovered himself and talked on police intimidation, perjury and kindred topics. One of the incidents of the session was the appearance in court of Luetgert's two little sons. The lads had not been in court for several weeks. They climbed upon their father's knees and he fondled them while Attorney Phalen orated.

Assistant State's Attorney McEwen approached Judge Tuthill and quietly objected to the children being conspicuously exhibited before the jury. Judge Tuthill ordered that they be sent to seats removed from the one occupied by their father. In a loud tone of voice ex-Judge Vincent objected to the removal of the children.

"Oh, your objection is plain enough and I will not permit it," retorted Judge Tuthill.

"I note an exception to the remarks of the court," said ex-Judge Vincent.

"Very well, go on Mr. Phalen," ordered the court.

But the Luetgert children were removed and will not be allowed to play upon the sympathies of the jurors.

BY DAYLIGHT

Texas Bandits Rob an Express Train.

The Scene of the Robbery Within Twelve Miles of Austin—Robbers Got Little Money.

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct.—Last evening at 5:30, in broad daylight, within twelve miles of the corporate limits of this city the south-bound "cannon ball" train on the International and Great Northern railroad, consisting of mail, baggage and express cars and three coaches loaded with passengers, was held up by four men and robbed.

The conductor of the train, Thomas Healy, was shot by the robbers while resisting them, but was not seriously wounded. One of the passengers had his shirt collar carried away by a pistol ball that was aimed at his neck and another received a bullet wound in the hand.

The passengers were robbed of some $200 in money. The bandits attempted to break the safe in the express car, but were unsuccessful.

After securing about $300 they uncoupled the engine from the train and started off down the track. Having gone several miles they set the lever at a moderate speed and left the engine and escaped. The engine came on to the flag station at Duval, four miles below, and was there captured.

FIELD TO RETIRE.

The Associate Justice Ready to Quit the Bench.

Attorney General McKenna Said to Be Slated to Succeed Him and Day to Be Promoted.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Associate Justice Field of the supreme court, having now broken all records for length of service upon the bench, has made formal application to be retired Dec. 1st next.

Attorney General McKenna is to be his successor, and Judge Day, now assistant secretary of state, will probably be appointed attorney general.

These changes have all been decided upon and will be effected as soon as congress meets, so that the senate may confirm the appointment. At the same time there may be other changes in the cabinet. Secretary Sherman may conclude to retire from the state department. If he does it is believed Secretary Long of the navy department will be chosen secretary of state, and that Assistant Secretary Theodore Roosevelt will be promoted to secretary of the navy.

But the retirement of Justice Field, the appointment of Attorney General McKenna to the vacancy and the promotion of Judge Day to a seat in the cabinet are the only changes now decided upon.

An Associated Press reporter called at Justice Field's residence today, but the justice excused himself, sending down word that he was not feeling well today. Mrs. Field would neither confirm nor deny reports of her husband's impending retirement, though giving the impression that it was at least under serious advisement.

THE MINOR COURTS.

Business Good Among the City Justices.

A [illegible] Paternity Suit Begun—Lake Township Has Troubles and Woodburn Has Woes.

Today in Justice France's court Louisa Ryan began paternity proceedings against Wallie Klintz, son of a well-to-do farmer living on the Bluffton road, a few miles from the city. The plaintiff resides in the city and was some years ago divorced from her husband. The defendant was released on bond of $350 to appear for hearing next Moday.

TROUBLE AT WOODBURN.

Warrants have been issued from Justice Bullerman's court for the arrest of Martin and Cain Baker at Woodburn, the charges being trespass and sabbath desecration. The affidavits were sworn to by Isaac Sprunger. Warrants have also been issued by the same magistrate for the arrest of Martin Baker and Alex Baker, jr., John Jordan and Cain Baker for sabbath desecration. The affidavits are sworn to by Bernhart P. Harris. The warrants have been sent to Woodburn to be served.

GETTING MIXED UP.

Ed Litchfield came in and paid a fine in Justice Hunter's court for kicking the little Keck boy in Lake township, mention of which was made yesterday in THE SENTINEL. Now warrants have been issued for the arrest of Eugene and Curtis Keck for assault and battery on the persons of Mary Levine and Cedoria Peguegnot, said assault consisting of the spitting of tobacco juice on them and striking them during the return of the quartet from school. Litchfield says he saw the affair and gave the Keck boy punishment he believed him to deserve. The parties all reside in Lake township.

BAGNIOS RAIDED.

Constables Make Early Morning Incursions to the Jail Flats.

The constables made a periodical raid early this morning to the resorts kept by Tillie Jones and Fannie Joy on the jail flats and to the resort at 97 Pearl street. A number of women and their male companions were captured in all places. The fines were assessed, it is said, in the courts of Justices France, Bullerman and Tancey. Nothing was learned of this by THE SENTINEL reporter at the justices courts today, but the story seems well founded.

CONVICTED.

Banker Rockafellow Fined $1,400 and Imprisoned.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Oct. 13.—Ex-Banker F. V. Rockafellow, convicted of receiving a deposit at his bank after he knew the bank was insolvent, was sentenced today to pay a fine of fourteen hundred dollars and serve one year in the eastern penitentiary. This is his second sentence. Upon his first conviction he was sent to the penitentiary for two years. There are still a half score of indictments hanging over his head, and according to a ruling of the supreme court, he can be re-arrested and tried in each case. The prisoner is over seventy years of age and when he appeared in court today was quite feeble.

WINKED AT IT.

Spanish Officials Rejoice Over Cisneros' Escape.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 13.—W. J. Calhoun, of Danville, ex-special commissioner to Cuba, knows enough of the political situation on that island to warrant his belief that Spanish authorities winked at the escape of Senorita Cisneros from a Havana prison. It released the authorities from an unpleasant situation without loss to these people.

NEWS OF THE COURTS.

Two suits of importance were commenced this afternoon against the Consolidated Street Railway company and others having interests related to the corporation to compel an accounting and for a lien. The suits were filed by Amy E. Seavey, of the Seavey Hardware company, and P. A. Randall. Mrs. Seavey's suit is on notes aggregating $1,475 and she asks that she be paid out of the first moneys available and asks the issue of receivers' certificates for the amount of her claims. The suit of P. A. Randall is the same based upon an original claim of $4,700, of which a balance of $2,800 remains unpaid. Both suits, as set forth, are filed for the respective plaintiffs and all others holding like claims as themselves against the defendants and ask that they may be required to file interpleading petitions.

The evidence and arguments in the Dennis suit against the city for $10,000 have been presented to the jury in the superior court, along with a large number of interrogatories. The jury has retired.

The City National bank of Logansport has been awarded judgment in the superior court against C. E. Everett for $432.42.

W. W. Williamson Made Postmaster at Columbia City.

The President Announces the Appointment Today and a Long Fight is Settled.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—Special—The president today announced among a large number of other appointments the appointment of Wallace W. Williamson to be postmaster at Columbia City, Ind. The appointment was made on the recommendation of Senator C. W. Fairbanks, who several months ago declared Mr. Williamson to be his choice. The new appointee is a young man and is the editor of the Columbia City Weekly Mail. He has resided in the community he will serve as postmaster but two or three years, and his appointment has been very dissatisfactory to a large number of republicans. Mr. Williamson has been chairman of the republican central committee of Whitley county. An effort was recently made by influential republicans to induce Senator Fairbanks to reconsider the appointment of Mr. Williamson.

SHERMAN'S NOTE

To Salisbury is Tart and to the Point.

The British Prime Minister Told That He Has Greatly Astonished Uncle Sam With His Stubbornness.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Secretary Sherman has written a reply to the note of Lord Salisbury, expressing Great Britain's declination to take part in a Bering Sea conference in which Russia and Japan are to participate. The essential features of Mr. Sherman's reply have been sent by cable to the British government, and the reply in full is now on its way to the British authorities.

Lord Salisbury's note of declination, it can now be stated, bore date of Oct. 6, last Wednesday, so that the response is made with promptness.

The answer states that the United State government views with astonishment the determination of Great Britain not to participate in a conference including Russia and Japan, and the statement is made that up to the 23d of last month the United States authorities had fully expected the conference would proceed with Russia and Japan as well as Great Britain present.

DIED SUDDENLY.

Child of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leach Dies of Exhaustion—The Funerals.

This morning Joseph Lorene, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Leach, of 64 Eckert street, died of exhaustion. Last night the little one appeared to be in good health. Its age was two months and eighteen days. The father works in the Pittsburg car shops.

FUNERALS.

This morning occurred the obsequies of John Campson, services being held at St. Patrick's Catholic church by the Rev. Father Delaney, commencing at 9 o'clock. The attendance was large. The pall bearers were R. F. Markey, Peter Nichter, John Monahan, Joseph Romary, John O'Connell and Geo. Humbrecht, all members of the Catholic Knights.

The funeral of Miss Kate Abel was largely attended yesterday afternoon by the friends of the deceased and of the family. A touching tribute to the life of Miss Abel was offered by the Rev. Dr. Moffat. The pall bearers were as follows: O. B. Fitch, G. E. Patton, R. A. Van Fleet, J. E. Ross, Elmer Leonard and R. F. Harper.

The funeral of Sister Domitilla will take place tomorrow morning from the chapel of the St. Joe hospital.

The funeral of the child of Mr. Mrs. Francis S. Hunt, which died of diphtheria, took place today, and was private.

Tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the M. E. church at Maysville, will be held the funeral services of Benson Lopshire.

The remains of the little son, Clarence E., of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Benedict, of 308 East Creighton avenue, were laid in the grave this afternoon. The bereaved mother, who has been ill for the past two weeks, insisted upon attending the services at the grave and passed through the trying ordeal bravely, though it is feared the exposure, coupled with grief at the loss of her boy, may result in a relapse.

LOCK-JAW FEARED.

Mrs. John Lugenbuehl Stepped on a Rusty Nail.

Accident Happened a Week Ago and a Physician Was Not Called Until Today—Victim May Die.

About a week ago Mrs. John Lugenbuehl, of Spy Run avenue, stepped on a rusty nail, which penetrated the ball of the foot and inflicted a wound that caused a great deal of pain. Her husband, who is a tailor in the Arcade, is a Swede and does not believe in doctors. He began treating the wound himself by applying a bandage of onions and other methods, but without proper instruments it was of course impossible to clean out the wound. Today Dr. Dinkin was called to see the case without the knowledge of the husband and pronounced the wound a very serious one. In fact, he had a fatal case of lockjaw a few weeks ago in which the inflammation was much less than in this case. It looks as if blood poison has set in, which if true may result fatally. Humane Officer Schlandroff had his attention drawn to the matter today and called upon Mr. Lugenbuehl to insist upon proper medical attendance.

THE FRUIT HOUSE.

Three White Brothers Will Conduct the Business.

Edward White Will be the Executive Head of the Concern—No Changes Contemplated.

When Captain White died he left behind him many monuments of his business enterprise, but none that he had devoted as much time and energy to as the Fruit house. It was here that he could be found early and late, always attending strictly to business. Now that he is gone there is some curiosity as to the future of this concern. It will go on just the same under the executive management of Edward White, who, with his two brothers, J. B. White, jr., and A. B. White, will continue as partners as they have been for the past two years. Edward White has for eleven years been a close student of his father's methods in the store and to him during the last two years has fallen a great part of the responsibility. With the united energies of the three brothers, the Fruit House will continue to be the most extensive concern of its kind in the state of Indiana.

COUNCIL MEETS.

A Short and Commonplace Session of the City Legislators.

Last night the council met in regular session. There was no business of great or unusual interest and the ennui of the sitting was only relieved by a mock parliamentary combat over the renaming of some of the streets. Mayor Scherer presided and Clerk Monning was at his usual post. Councilmen present were Borkenstein, Buhr, Mohr, MacMahon, Norman, Purcell, Scheid, Schubler, Tigar, Waltemath and Welker. Councilmen Glenn, Haag, Meyer and Somers were absent.

A petition from James E. Graham and sixteen others asking the council to make some provisions for a permanent cover for the Barr street market space was presented by Councilman Tigar and was referred to the committee on streets and alleys.

Residents along St. Mary's avenue petitioned to have the gas company required to extend their main along certain portions of that street. This was referred to the committee on streets and lights.

The council accepted an invitation from the mayor of Kalamazoo to attend a street fair in that city today and tomorrow.

Mayor Scherer notified the council of his approval of the tax levy and other ordinances passed at the last session.

The council considered an ordinance introduced on recommendation of the city comptroller transferring $1,000 from the sewer account to the maintenance and repair of streets account and $200 from the sewer account to the bridge account. An ordinance was introduced appropriating $100 to pay for a drinking fountain at the corner of Broadway and Taylor street. The committee on finance reported its approval of the bond filed by Treasurer L. C. Hunter and the report was concurred in.

The committee on streets and alleys occasioned some wrangling of a good natured sort in its report recommending that Ninth and Tenth streets, in the Tenth ward, be changed to Silver and Findlay streets respectively. The report was concurred in, and after listening to and concurring in the reports of the street lights committee and the board of waterworks trustees for the month of September, the council adjourned.

A NEW LABEL.

The Popular "Eclipse" to Come Out in a New Dress.

Mr. F. J. Gruber, the well known cigar manufacturer, is having a handsome new label prepared by a New York label printing house for his new "Eclipse" 5c cigar. As soon as the labels arrive Mr. Gruber will push the "Eclipse" with renewed vigor and the cigar will be found on sale at every first-class cigar stand in the city.

It is the verdict of all smokers of good cigars that the "Eclipse" 5c straight cigar is the finest ever sold in Fort Wayne and is, in fact, equal to the great majority of 10c cigars.

The making of the "Eclipse" will in no wise interfere with the manufacturing of those other popular brands, "F. G." and "Frank's Choice," which will be kept up to their high standard.

Now that the election is over, Indianapolis should take a day off and clean up the mud.

The fire loss in the United States this year is $[illegible] less than at the same time in 1896 and $16,000,000 less than in 1895.

Indianapolis dispatches announce that Tom Taggart is being already talked of for governor in 1900. That is no news. It's been Tom Taggart's program for some time and his last successful campaign is a part of it.

A movement is on foot in Greater New York to displace Judge Van Wyck on the Tammany ticket with Judge William Gaynor, of Brooklyn. If this should be done it would greatly change the present chaotic condition of things political in that city. Tammany has taken fright at the wonderful strength developed by the George movement and would doubtless be glad of the change. Had Gaynor been the democratic nominee Henry George would never have been a candidate. Indeed, he would not consider a nomination until he had Judge Gaynor's assurance that Gaynor would not be. Gaynor's promise to George is the consideration that likely will prove an insuperable reason why the Brooklyn jurist may refuse to run.

A year ago the republicans carried the city of Indianapolis in the national election by over 7,000 majority. Yesterday Thomas Taggart was elected mayor by upwards of 3,000 majority. The Indianapolis democrats stood on the Chicago platform and took occasion during the progress of the campaign to unfurl the Bryan flag. Are these facts to be regarded as significant?

The New York Herold, German, and the New York Herald have together made a canvass of the 125,000 German voters as to their preferences for mayor. Henry George, Jefferson democrat, is the choice of 49,911; Seth Low, Citizens union, 48,221; Van Wyck, Tammany, 44,039; General Tracy, republican, 21,787; Patrick Gleason, independent, 5,660. The Journal and Advertiser's poll of 298,259 voters of Greater New York shows: Van Wyck, 71,787; Henry George, 61,416; Seth Low, 41,400; General Tracy, 30,451.

If the young men at the Culver military school do not wish to write themselves down a set of cads of the most unmitigated sort they will make haste to reconsider the unmanly and un-American sentiment which actuated them to refuse to keep a foot ball engagement because the opposing team appeared on the field with a colored boy in its ranks. That sort of thing may be occasionally overlooked in the south where the prejudice of ancient traditions has not yet had time to wear out, but here in Indiana we all like to feel that it has and can have no place, specially in institutions of learning.

How About It, Mayor Scherer?

Last week three men were arrested for connection with policy gambling. One of the men was fined and the other two were discharged on the ground that there was no evidence to convict.

Up to date that has been the end of the mayor's crusade against this pestiferous vice that has got such a firm hold on the city it can laugh defiance and contempt at the authorities and the law.

The game still goes on. The agents peddle the tickets for the gambling on the streets, in saloons and other places as they have been doing for three years. Did Mayor Scherer mean business when those three men were arrested last week, was he only bluffing, or—worse still—have the policy crowd "got" Mayor Scherer's nerve?

How about it, Mayor Scherer? Do the policy sharks "rule the roost?"

The Indianapolis Election.

There are three distinct significances in the overwhelming triumph of the democratic ticket in Indianapolis yesterday.

First, because it was carried to the front as an issue in the campaign just closed, must the result be viewed as an endorsement of the national democratic platform adopted at Chicago last year. The platform on which the Indianapolis democrats waged their fight proclaimed in the most unequivocal terms their reaffirmation of the principles on which William J. Bryan and his supporters stood a year ago. While the gold standard advocates will point out that the Indianapolis election was distinctly a local affair and that gold democrats supported Mayor Taggart, such a view will not—because it cannot—obviate the fact that the democrats went into the campaign with the distinct avowal that they intended and the issue was to be accepted as a test of the democratic position on those great national questions which constituted the party's creed last year.

Second, the Indianapolis election proves with more force and amplification than ever the fact, oft demonstrated in later years, of the utter folly of a mud-slinging campaign, with all its colossal equipment of roorback, canard, scare-talk and lie, sprung at the last moment, too late if possible for effective refutation.

Third, the Indianapolis election makes clear that there is little use in trying to defeat for re-election a candidate whose administration of office has been in the main acceptable, if his opponent be an inferior man who can give no well-secured promise that he will do better. Mayor Taggart's administration of the business affairs of Indianapolis was good. The only question properly raised against him was his rather lax enforcement of the saloon laws. His principal opponent was a man of whom no better and possibly worse things could be expected.

Push It Along.

There is no opposite side to the proposition that a beet sugar factory in Fort Wayne would be a good thing for the city and the country surrounding it. This being true, THE SENTINEL would like to see the project taken hold of with that enthusiasm and determination that disputes every alternative to success.

The time is not far distant when the United States will cease to import sugar because even the immense amount consumed by this country will be produced on our own soil. Beet sugar culture, therefore, becomes a stupendous prospect in America. Soil adapted admirably to the growth of the sugar beet is found in great areas in most of the states of the Mississippi valley. Indiana is no exception and such tests as have been made determine that in Allen county the soil and conditions are conspicuously favorable to the growth of the sugar beet.

If a sugar factory with capacity to consume four or five hundred tons of sugar beets per day be established in Fort Wayne it will mean for the farmers of Allen county a new crop that will yield them several hundred thousand dollars yearly. The prosperity that would come to growers through this would be felt tremendously in every line of business in Fort Wayne. Moreover, the factory itself would be a magnificent addition to the employing and producing capacity of the city.

From what can be learned it is more than probable that the beet sugar factory may be secured for Fort Wayne if a vigorous spirit is aroused among the business men and other capitalists here. It is too big and valuable an enterprise to let get away.

IRELAND'S population continues to decline. The official figures for last year are 4,560,[illegible]. In 1845 they were 8,295,061, falling below 7,000,000 in 1850, below 6,000,000 in 1856, and below 5,000,000 in 1884. The excess of births over deaths last year was 21,941 and the loss by emigration 38,995. Nearly all the emigrants were in the prime of life. The extremely poor crops this year will increase the emigration and the island will suffer a further decline in population. Perhaps the recent visit of the Duke and Duchess of York will be of benefit to Ireland, but the unfavorable conditions are deep seated. Poverty is its portion always and famine threatens it with deplorable frequency.

THE school board of the city of Philadelphia has tabooed Victor Hugo's novel, "Les Miserables," and the girls of the high school will not be permitted to read that immortal work because the board has in its official capacity declared the book to be immoral. A few years ago a Brooklyn school board acquired fame by placing its ban on Longfellow's beautiful and patriotic poem, "The Launch of the Ship," holding that certain portions of the effusion were in language and sentiment unfit for the perusal of the young, especially girls. Some time later an erudite body of official wiseacres presiding over the educational destinies of an Iowa town proscribed from the public schools the works of Charles Dickens and Sir Walter Scott. With a moral penetration that was nothing less than inspiration itself, this board had discovered that "Waverly" and "Boz" were bad, bad men; wicked writers of unchaste thought; artists who with filthy fingers drew their pictures in the slime of the soil. And now poor, dead Hugo! poet, philosopher, statesman, romancer! He put grossness in the pages of his imperishable book and the public executioner in the city of Penn will doubtless be ordered to burn it. There may be something in Hugo's pictures of the grisette to inspire Philadelphia girls with ambition to live in the latin quarter and have student lovers, but if there is, it must be said the growing crop of Philadelphia women is not promising.

ONE incident in the late late P. E. Studebaker's life which attracted widespread attention was the erection of a stone over the grave of Abraham Lincoln's mother. He was always an ardent republican, and such a devoted admirer of the great emancipator that he always read everything which came to his notice in the newspapers about the martyred president. One day he saw the statement in a South Bend paper that the grave of Lincoln's mother, in Spencer county, Ind., was unmarked by even so much as a headboard. He at once wrote to the editor of the paper, offering a contribution toward the purchase of a monument. It chanced that Schuyler Colfax was in the office of the editor when the letter was opened, and he himself wrote to Mr. Studebaker urging him not to wait on the uncertainty of response from others who might be interested in the matter, but to assume the expense of a modest stone out of his own pocket. After considerable urging Mr. Studebaker had the stone erected, believing that the name of Lincoln and his mother belonged to no individual but to the nation, and that such a course was compatible with propriety.

TEN YEARS YOUNGER.

A Happy Husband's Story.

"My wife," writes a fond husband, "looks ten years younger since she began to take Dr. Greene's Nervura. She was in a terrible condition. She began to be nervous over trifles. I did not notice it at first, but she grew steadily worse. After a little she could not sleep. She lost her appetite. Then she became irritable and cross, and from the sweetest and best tempered woman in the world she became sluggish and hysterical. Finally she began to fade away. You know there is a difference between women who grow old naturally and women who fade out from the effects of disease. I think I am as devoted and patient as any husband, but I must confess that my wife's unfortunate condition was a sore trial. I do not know what would have become of us if things had gone on as they were. The change for the better came suddenly. There was a complete transformation within a few days. Sound sleep and a hearty appetite came as nervousness and irritability went. I did not know what the matter was until she told me that she had been impressed by the sincerity and common sense of Dr. Greene's advertisements and had been taking his Nervura. From misery and despondency she is now the happiest person in the world, with the possible exception of myself."

Dr. Greene's Nervura,

THE GREAT BLOOD AND NERVE REMEDY,

Is the great health restorer. To suffering womankind it is a priceless blessing. How sad is the sight of a fading woman! Who has not seen the sparkling eyes lose their lustre, the roses and lilies fade from the cheeks, and elasticity of step and gracefulness of figure give way to repulsive haggishness? With departing beauty go sweetness of temper and charm of speech, and nothing is left of the sufferer but the ghastly contrast with her former self. The world would be gloomy indeed were there no light in this dark picture. Nature is forgiving. In Dr. Greene's Nervura she has furnished a means by which women may regain their lost health and beauty, and resume their rightful positions in the spheres in which they move, as both ornaments and inspirations.

Dr. Greene's Nervura acts directly upon the nerves and blood, which are the [illegible]. Exhaustion, irritability and morbidness are banished, and the circulation is strengthened and purified like a mountain stream. The office of Dr. Greene's remedies, 148 State St., Chicago, Ill., is open to you, and skilled physicians are at your service with consultation, examination and advice absolutely free, personally or by letter.

TIRED OF WAITING.

United States Prods the Government at Peru.

Secretary Sherman Orders Them to Hasten the Settlement of the Long Pending MacCord Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The state department has again directed the attention of the government of Peru to the desirability of closing the long-pending MacCord case, in which indemnity is asked for the imprisonment of Victor MacCord, an American citizen, in Peru. The note is firm in tone, and speaks of the patience which the United States has exercised in the many delays attending this case. No time is specified for the settlement.

In response to this note the Peruvian minister, Senor Eguiguren, delivered to the state department on last Saturday a memorandum covering the question as viewed by the Peruvian authorities and also expressing a desire to close the matter. As to the state department's expression that the United States has exercised much patience on the subject, the Peruvian minister pointed out that Peru has not been responsible for the delays, as the first claim was made in 1885, since which time there have been periods of months, and in two cases several years, of inaction on the claim. Mr. Sherman's answer to the memorandum is being awaited with interest.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—The organization of the greatest combination of window glass manufacturers ever formed in this country was completed at Camden, N. J., yesterday. It was named the American Window Glass company, and is composed of all the factories of the country except half a dozen small concerns. The capital stock of the company was fixed at $1,500,000, but the actual capital represented in the combination aggregates nearly $11,000,000. James A. Chambers, of this city, was elected president, and Pittsburg was chosen as the general selling agency.

The question was placed in the hands of a committee appointed for its consideration.

HIS COVENANT WITH GOD.

Queer Document Signed by a New Englander Over 150 Years Ago.

Enos W. Boise, town clerk of Blandford, has in his possession an interesting document, now yellow with age, but with ink clear, and in a remarkably legible hand, which purports to be a covenant with God drawn by David Boise, one of Mr. Boise's ancestors. The covenant is dated April 18, 1738, and was clearly a work of great moment to its author. He was evidently in a mood of great doubt as to his salvation and the result of his errors, and in a period of religious fervor sat himself down and wrote out his state of mind. It cannot be learned that such covenants were the usual custom with the men of those days, and this document of Mr. Boise's is a curiosity. Its spelling is not exactly that of today, and there are other peculiarities in the capitalization and the like. The covenant reads as follows:

>
> Dated the 18th of April 1738.

British Admiralty Red Tape.

Every one who has to do with the admiralty is familiar with amusing tales of the glorification of red tape. Here is the very latest. Some time ago a workman in one of the dock yards lost a government candlestick, valued at a few pence. This was considered sufficient excuse for a report by the local officials to Whitehall. A long correspondence of the approved government office type ensued, and it is estimated that not less than £5 was spent in the officials' time, ink and paper. After every aspect of the case had been weighed the workman was directed to pay the local officials the sum of fivepence, being the value set upon that particular candlestick. Of course, if the man had been in private employment, little or no notice would have been taken of such a triviality, or, at most, he would have paid his foreman the value, without any red tapeism.—Westminster Gazette.

SUBSTANCE OR SHADOW.

The Telltale Mirror as Testimony in an Important Case at Law.

"What is and what is not testimony," remarked the attorney who goes 20 miles out on the railroad every evening to sleep, "is not always determined by Chitty, as I can testify after an experience I had not long ago. I was spending a week with a friend who keeps a mountain resort in Virginia, and during my visit the room of one of the guests was robbed of jewelry amounting to $40 or $50. Several servants were suspected, but the theft could not be fixed upon any one of them until I happened upon the laundryman who came to get the linen of the guests on that floor, mine among the number. This man was thoroughly reliable and of some means, which he had saved during many years of work about the hotel.

"I was interested in the case, and when I mentioned it to my laundryman he looked surprised and asked if he could not have a private talk with me on the subject. He gave me such information that I felt safe in having a colored chambermaid arrested for the theft, the prosecuting attorney, of course, taking the lead in the action. The girl denied stealing the jewelry, but we stood ready to prove what we had charged and the case came promptly to trial before a magistrate.

"Our side did not have much show until I called the laundryman. He was duly sworn and testified that on the day of the stealing he had stepped in front of the door of the room in which the theft was committed, thinking it was a room where he was to call for clothes. In getting close enough to see the number on the door, his attention in some way was attracted to the large transom over the door, which was set open at an angle reflecting the interior of the room. The transom was of one large pane of glass, with a piece of dark silk over the inside, making it to all intents and purposes a mirror.

"In this mirror he had distinctly seen the reflection of the figure of the prisoner, Mary French, whom he had known since her childhood. She was standing at a bureau or dresser looking at and handling some jewelry which had been left there. After a few moments he saw her take in her hand a breastpin of gold and move away about her work in the room; at least he could hear her moving about sweeping, though he could no longer see her, as she had got where the glass did not reflect her. The laundryman's son, a lad of 16, testified to very nearly the same facts, as he had been standing by the side of his father.

"The pin thus described as having been taken was the pin which was lost, and the evidence seemed sure to convict, but the magistrate was very cautious. The laundryman testified further that he had not mentioned it because he had not heard of the robbery until I spoke of it and he had not cared to make any trouble at first because he supposed the girl might have been only going to put the pin in a safe place.

"This kind of testimony was, in my opinion, good enough to convict in any court, but his honor, the squire, looked wise and refused to admit it on the ground that the witness had not seen the prisoner take the pin nor had he seen the prisoner at all. It was her reflection, and as he had not seen her and had so testified then, of course, not having seen her, his testimony as to what she had done during the time of her reflection was not competent, and he would throw it out, which he did, and the state lost the case of course. Since that time I have been making a study of evidence and calculating the value of the relation of a shadow to its substance in a court of law presided over by a Virginia justice of the peace."—Washington Star.

NEW MILEAGE PLAN.

Col. Thompson Solves the Interchangable Problem.

Devises a Book That Will be Simple, Quick to Handle by the Local Agents and Practical and Non-assignable.

Col. R. G. Thompson, of the Wabash, has solved the problems which surround the interchangeable 1,000 mileage book question by devising a system which will do away with all the tedious, slow work at the ticket office when the owner of the book presents himself for transportation, and at the same time be as practical and as non-assignable as the book now in use on the Central Traffic association. The [illegible] is thus outlined by Mr. Thompson:

"It seems to me that [illegible] ticket in duplex form would [illegible] most of the [illegible] work for the ticket agent and delay to the passenger. For example, have a duplex ticket printed in three parts, showing all stations, one part for the passenger, one for the auditor and one for the issuing agent as a matter of record. On the part the agent forwards to the auditor with his daily reports and detached coupons, require the signature of the passenger in ink. On the part the passenger receives and gives to the train conductor for transportation, require again his signature on the train, which part the conductor sends to the auditor for comparison of signatures, etc. Let there appear on the mileage exchange ticket two designating initials, as now appears on the mileage book, of all lines accepting the interchangeable mileage book, together with two columns of figures from 1 to 0, one column to designate the number of the mileage book presented for exchange, and one the number of miles traveled. When the passenger presents his mileage book the ticket agent detaches the number of miles he wishes to travel and requires the passenger to sign his name in ink on the exchange ticket when he punches [illegible] from station to station traveled, the form number, [illegible] and finds the passenger has [illegible] ready for use. The [illegible] could [illegible] be left off, as a [illegible] could be made in the contract of the ticket [illegible] to [illegible] of date stamped on back. The Travelers' Accident Insurance company has a duplex ticket which requires a signature and seven punch marks. This ticket can be issued easily in fifteen seconds or less, exclusive of signature, which is evident that the system given above would render it possible to issue transportation tickets in a very short space of time. I will illustrate. Supposing a passenger presents mileage book form WR, No. 2,645, and wishes to travel from Fort Wayne to Toledo—ninety-five miles. This would require nine punch marks, which could be placed in the ticket, with a reasonable amount of time allowed for care, in fifteen seconds. I have no doubt that a system something like the above will sooner or later be adopted by the railroads."

HORNER DEFY'S THE CENTRAL.

B. F. Horner, general passenger agent of the Nickel Plate, has been adjudged in contempt of the Central Passenger association because he has refused to do what the association instructed him to do. Last July Mr. Horner was told that he must increase the second class rate from Bellevue, Ohio, to Chicago from $5 to $7. This is a competitive point with the Nickel Plate, Lake Shore and Michigan Southern, and Baltimore and Ohio, and Mr Horner's cut-rate affected intermediate points.

RAILWAY STATISTICS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—The ninth statistical report of the inter-state commerce commission for the year ended June 30, 1896, gives interesting information concerning the mileage, equipment, number of employes, capitalization and valuation, accidents and earnings and expenses of railways in the United States for the year named. One hundred and fifty one roads, representing 30,475 miles of operated mileage were in the hands of receivers on June 30, 1896, a decrease of eighteen from the previous year. The capital stock representation controlled by receivers was $742,597,668, and the funded debt was $999,723,766. The total railway mileage on June 30, 1896, was 182,776, an increase of 2,119 for the year, Georgia showing the largest increase, 233 miles. The number of locomotives in service was 35,950, of cars of all classes 1,297,649, an increase of 251 locomotives and [illegible] cars. Of the total cars and locomotives 448,554 were fitted with train brakes and 545,562 with automatic couplers. The number of freight locomotives fitted with automatic couplers were 2,372 out of a total of 4,351 and the cars in freight service fitted with train brakes was 270,038 out of a total of 1,221,887. An interesting feature of the report is a summary showing the amount of compensation paid to the railway employes of the United States, who aggregated 826,620. Their aggregate compensation amounted to over 60 per cent. of the total operating expenses of all railways, a slight decrease from the preceding year. Much data on the capitalization and valuation of railway property is contained in the report. The amount of railway capital, it is shown, was $10,566,865,771, which, assigned on a mileage basis, shows a capital of $59,610 per mile of line and, if current liabilities be included as part of the capital, $63,068 per mile of line.

The amount of capital stock was $5,226,527,269, of which $859,956,692 was preferred.

A fraction of over 70 per cent. of the capital stock paid no dividends. The total dividends amounted to $87,603,371.

Passengers carried during the year numbered 511,772,737, an increase of over 40,000,000 compared with the previous year, which, however, showed a decrease of 33,288,834 as compared with 1894. Freight tonnage amounted to 765,891,385, the largest ever reported for railways in this country and an increase of nearly 70,000,000. Gross earnings amounted to $1,150,169,376, an increase of nearly $75,000,000, resulting in a net income of over $33,000,000 larger than the previous year. Nearly 1,900 employes were killed and almost 30,000 injured during the year, an increase of fifty in those killed and over 4,000 in the number of injured.

One hundred and eighty one passengers were killed and nearly 3,000 injured. The number of persons other than employes and passengers killed was 4,406, and those injured 5,845.

These figures include casualties to persons reported as trespassers. For every 444 men employed on railways one was killed and for every twenty-eight men employed one was injured. One trainman was killed for each 152 trainmen employed and one trainman was injured for each ten men employed. The number of passengers carried for one passenger killed was 2,827,474 and the number of passengers carried for one passenger injured was 178,132.

PRESIDENT THOMSON'S TOUR.

A special train bearing most of the higher officials of the Pennsylvania, including President Frank Thomson, arrived in this city at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The party stopped here only a few minutes, making a hurried visit to the shops, and then continuing their journey to Chicago. The train was hauled through from Crestline with one engine, making some fast runs en route. The president is out on his annual inspection tour, the itinerary of which was published in these columns last Monday.

BRIEF MENTIONS.

The Nickel Plate coal docks at this point are receiving their fall stock of coal.

D. W. Knots has taken a position as fireman on the Nickel Plate road, making his first trip out yesterday.

After a ten days stay in Chicago with relatives, John Lalander, a Nickel Plate fireman, has resumed work.

Henry Beyer has recovered from an illness which disabled him for several weeks. He is a blacksmith employed in the Pittsburg shops.

Hon. J. H. [illegible], who has been east for a week [illegible] the Bass Foundry and Machine works, is expected home this evening.

A syndicate of eastern capitalists has purchased the big plant of the [illegible] Machine company of [illegible], Wis., [illegible].

It is stated that the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City has agreed to co-operate with the other roads in the [illegible] rates east bound out of St. Louis.

The Wabash last week sent out specifications [illegible] for new [illegible] on five large passenger engines and fifteen heavy freight locomotives.

Engineer Al Becker, who had been fishing for several days, has taken his run on the Nickel Plate again. Engineer George Stevens is now enjoying a few days' rest.

W. E. Woodward, of the Grand Rapids and Indiana offices, is attending the national meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, in session at Buffalo, N. Y., this week.

As now blocked out, the time card of the Wabash, which goes into effect next month, will undergo little change from that now in force. Passenger trains may have their time altered a few minutes and the local freight runs may be changed, but aside from this there will be no variation.

Twenty or more of the engineers on the Big Four, running out of Indianapolis, will receive for September services from $185 to $195. Never in the history of the road have as many engineers, it is stated, earned over $180 for a month's service, owing to the heavy traffic over the several divisions.

The Santa Fe is building a number of grain elevators on its line. One was completed at Winfield, Kan., last week, which has a capacity of 150,000 bushels, and at several points the company is making improvements for handling live stock more expeditiously and on a more convenient scale.

The Englewood and Chicago electric street railway was sold at auction at Chicago yesterday, the successful bidder being Jules B. Bache, who represents the reorganization committee. The property consists of a franchise for fifty five miles of streets and roads, upon which twenty two and a half miles of railway are in actual operation. The property has a face valuation of $1,175,000.

In the first nine months of this year, ending September 30, orders were placed for 221 locomotives, 27,700 freight cars and 179 passenger coaches. In this connection it should be stated that the annual consumption of locomotives in excess of those built by the railroad companies at their own shops for seven years past has averaged 871. The freight car consumption is about 50,000 per annum, and of passenger cars 800.

The Sunday excursion business has grown during the last summer to cut a large figure in the receipts of many of the western roads. On several of the large lines the number of people carried into Chicago on the first day of the week exceeds the number carried on the other six. The Alton announced yesterday that last Sunday it had broken its record for Sunday excursion business, having handled something over six thousand people between Chicago and other stations within a few hours' ride of Chicago.

Contractors will in a short time begin the building for the Wabash road of a new station at St. Louis, at the corner of Vandeventer avenue and Bernard street. The building will be constructed of Indiana blue Bedford stone, with granite and terra cotta trimmings. On one corner will be a tower fifty five feet high. The interior of the station will be finished in marble and the platforms on the outside protected by iron sheds. The building is to be completed in ten months from October 1st.

The Rev. M. C. Cooper united in marriage at 8 o'clock last evening, at the parsonage of St. Paul's M. E. church, Miss Octavia Mohl and Mr. Michael Wambaugh. Both young people have many friends. Mr. Wambaugh is a moulder in the Kerr Murray foundry.

C. B. Murray, jr., traveling passenger agent of the Chicago and Alton road, was in the city today.

Pittsburg engine 210, which has been thoroughly overhauled, was turned out of the shops this morning.

John Ryan, a coppersmith, is working again in the Pittsburg shops, after an illness of about two months.

Trainmaster C. E. Wells and Bridge Superintendent W. S. Duros, of the Wabash, were here yesterday. The former remained overnight.

Foreman Joseph Slater, of the Bass blacksmith shop, left this morning on a tour of some of the northern cities in the interest of the works.

Charles P. Porter, foreman of the Wabash warehouse, and his wife have returned from Peru, where they were the guests two days of Mr. Porter's parents.

The Electric corporation sent an incandescent dynamo to Orange, Mass., this morning. Other shipments are now under way, some of them being quite important.

James T. Leary, chief clerk in the motive power department of the northwestern system of the Pennsylvania company, is at Cincinnati looking after railway business.

Within the last month forty or more freight brakemen on the Missouri Pacific have been dismissed for accepting money from tramps whom they permitted to ride on their trains.

Matt Bailey, foreman of the Pennsylvania's boiler shop at Wellsville, Ohio, was in the city yesterday, visiting his brothers and sisters and calling upon his old friends at the Pittsburg shops.

The Wabash cars running through to Buffalo are being equipped with steam heating apparatus at the Decatur shops as a New York law prohibits the use of stoves and fires on trains in that state.

Findlay Republican: "A. B. Weller of Fort Wayne, who was formerly in the general offices of the Tangent line while they were located in this city, is now assisting at the local office of the Tangent line."

Louis Kestell, formerly employed in the Pittsburg planing mills, but for the past year engaged with his brother in a bicycle shop in Toledo, has returned here and, if he finds employment, will resume his residence in Fort Wayne.

Mr. Harris, the Wabash operator at the junction, has returned to his duties, after a visit with his brother at Huntington. Mr. Travis, who was in charge at that office during Mr. Harris absence, this morning went to Clymers to work.

Homer A. Blakely and Miss Katy Conrad were married last evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. [illegible], [illegible] John street, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. John Kuehn of the St. John Reformed church. None but the relatives of the bridal couple and a very few of their most intimate friends were present. The bride and groom have fitted up a home at [illegible] and went immediately to housekeeping there. Mr. Blakely is [illegible] at the Pennsylvania offices.

[illegible]

Herman [illegible], an employe of the Bass blacksmith shop, [illegible] handling [illegible] the heavy pieces rolled off the pile and struck him [illegible] foot in a most painful manner. It is not thought any of the bones are broken, but the injury is such that it will keep the unfortunate man from his work for a week or so.

A NEW CATALOGUE.

Home Telephone Company's New List of Subscribers.

The list of subscribers of the Home Telephone company has grown so rapidly that a new telephone directory became a necessity, and the book, newly compiled and conveniently arranged, has just been issued from the Journal presses. The size of the directory gives an idea of the growth of telephone service in Fort Wayne in the past two years. Before the Home company was organized the total number of instruments in use was not over 600. Now the home company alone has 1,300 subscribers, and Fort Wayne is said to have the largest service, proportional to size, in the United States. The book is arranged on a new plan, and is very convenient. Owing to the large number of connections the company has been compelled to establish an auxiliary exchange on the south side, and this has necessitated a new arrangement in the directory. Subscribers are now classed as belonging to the "Main" or "South" exchange, and are so designated in the catalogue. Persons calling for any number must state whether the party desired is north or south, which can be ascertained by looking in the directory.
